

WOMEN HOLD EDGE ON TOWN VOTER LISTS

The ladies continue to dominate the voting lists in Gettysburg.

The newest registration list, completed Monday by the county election board, shows Gettysburg now has 1,799 women voters compared to 1,658 men. Up to about five years ago men voters outnumbered the women in the town.

Republican women outnumber the Republican men, 1,118 to 920, thus giving the ladies the majority of votes in the town, but the Democratic women are rapidly gaining on the men and the figures now stand at 695 males and 646 females, for the Democrats.

GOP WOMEN LEAD

Even the nonpartisan women are gaining on the nonpartisan men with those figures now at 43 males, 35 females.

Republican women outnumber Republican men in all precincts of the town. The Democratic ladies outnumber the men in the First Ward, First Precinct and Second Ward. In First Ward Second Precinct nonpartisan women outnumber the male nonpartisan voters.

Republican voters, with the number of men first and women second, follow: First Ward First Precinct, 169, 235; First Ward Second Precinct, 174, 138; Second Ward, 216, 304; Third Ward, 306, 331.

MARGIN FOR GOP

On the Democratic listings, the number of voters is as follows, with the men listed first and women second: First Ward First Precinct, 169, 235; First Ward Second Precinct, 174, 138; Second Ward, 216, 304; Third Ward, 306, 331.

The nonpartisan voters are: First Ward First Precinct, 5 men and 3 women; Second Precinct, 7 and 9; Second Ward, 13 and 10; Third Ward, 18 and 13.

Politically the town has 2,038 Republicans, 1,341 Democrats and 78 nonpartisan voters.

SEVEN EAGLE SCOUTS TO BE HONOR GUESTS

Seven of the eight Black Walnut District Boy Scouts who achieved the Eagle Scout rank during the last year will be honored Thursday evening at the eighth annual Eagle career dinner held under sponsorship of the York-Adams Area Council of the Boy Scouts and the Continental Congress Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution at the Hotel Yorktowne. The eighth area Eagle Scout will be unable to be present because of his college studies.

Sixty-one York and Adams County Scouts and Explorers who during 1961 achieved the Eagle rank, the highest in Scouting, will be present for the dinner.

A special feature of this year's dinner will be the award of the National Honor Life Saving medal to Eagle Scout Timothy R. Brooks son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray O. Brooks, Hanover, who will receive the national award for saving the life of Terry Koller, who broke through thin ice while skating. It will mark the first such award to be presented in the York-Adams area.

YORKER TO SPEAK

W. S. Miller, manager of Marine Sales, York Division of the Borg-Warner Corporation, will be the main speaker. Attorney Horace G. Ports, area Scout commissioner, will preside.

The dinner provides Eagle Scouts with an opportunity to

Former Resident Of County Dies

Mrs. Estelle Gott, wife of Richard Gott, Silver Spring, Md., and a native of Adams County, died Sunday night at 5 o'clock at the Suburban Hospital, Bethesda, Md., of a heart attack and pneumonia.

The former Estelle Frommeyer, she was a daughter of the late Francis and Sara (Kime) Frommeyer. Her husband was a partner in the Gott and Garvin Garage here (now Glenn L. Bream Garage) until about 1932 when the family moved to the Washington area.

Surviving in addition to her husband are two sons, Richard F. Gott, Kensington, Md., and John S. Gott, also of Kensington; three daughters, Mrs. Mary E. Gastelle, Rockville, Md.; Mrs. Elizabeth Scherschel, Chico, Calif.; and Mrs. Ann L. Plank, Washington, D. C., and 19 grandchildren.

Funeral services Wednesday morning with requiem mass at 10 o'clock at St. John's Catholic Church, Silver Spring, Interment in the church cemetery. Friends may call this evening at the Warner-Pumphrey Funeral Home, Silver Spring.

CANCER DRIVE IN COUNTY IS IN FINAL WEEK

With one week left for the Adams County Cancer Crusade to run, a total of $1,810.69 has been received toward the county goal of $10,500.

Mrs. Stanley Wolfe has reported for Mrs. M. Edwin Benner; Mrs. Pearl Wiser has reported for Mrs. Terry Goodermuth; Miss Rosemary Forsythe and 4 additional funds from Mrs. Carl McLaughlin who reported last week; and Mrs. J. Kermit Herter has reported Mrs. Edward Crist, Mrs. Robert Weaver and Mrs. Paul Ramer as finished.

Generous checks are being received daily in response to the letters sent out to independent businesses and clubs and organizations. Only a very small percentage of the captains have reported in for workers who have finished their collections and a few captains have not yet sent in their recruitment report of workers to Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, county chairman.

It is felt that the Easter season has probably deterred the house to house calls but the county chairmen are urging now that all captains check on their workers within the next few days to see that the Crusade is on the way to completion.

Mrs. Buehler with Richard E. Schultz, cochairman, and Mrs. Henrietta Blocher, executive director of county work, will be in the downstairs meeting room on the West St. bank from 6 to 8 o'clock Friday evening to receive from captains the funds from those of their workers who have finished their areas. This will be the final group collection. Special appointments will be made with those captains who are not able to report finally this week.

TOP STUDENTS AT DHS GIVEN

Donald L. Storm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Storm, Gettysburg R. 5, and Maryann Tananis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Tananis, 343 North St., McSherrystown, will be valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, at the annual graduation ceremonies for the senior class of Delone Catholic High School Sunday, June 3, at 8 p.m. in the Park theater, Hanover.

Storm, a first honor student the past four years, is treasurer of the student council, secretary of the school's National Honor Society and National High School Mathematics club, president of the school band and treasurer of the Forensic Club.

An Eagle Boy Scout and a student Rotarian, he was one of 29 winners in a national contest sponsored by "Our Times" and during his sophomore year was a medal winner in the national Latin contest.

Miss Tananis, also a four-year honor student and a member of the school's National Honor Society and National High School Mathematics Club, has been a member of the "Delonews" staff two years and has been a medal winner for superior performance in the national Latin contests. During the past three years she has served as pianist for the girls' glee club and boys' chorus.

MAN IS JAILED

Clarence Wolf, 69, Fairfield, was placed in the county jail Monday evening by Fairfield Police Chief Wilbert Fleming charged with disorderly conduct, according to the jail records.

3 CANADIANS ARE GUESTS OF KIWANIS CLUB

Two retired schoolteachers and their daughter, who also is a teachers from St. Catherine, Ontario, Canada, were guests Monday of the local Kiwanis Club in observance of the annual "Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week."

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Elliott and daughter, Isabelle, were guests for a program that included tours of the battlefield and museums, an overnight stay at a motor lodge and special guests at the weekly dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club Monday evening in the Lamp Post Tea Room.

The three were stopped on Broadway shortly after 9 o'clock Monday morning by President Roy Thomas, Prof. Herbert Hamme and Chief of Police Jack Bartlett. After breakfast at the Howard Johnson Restaurant, the trio was checked in at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge, where given a tour of the cyclorama by James Myers, club member and superintendent of the Gettysburg National Military Park; were shown through the Hall of Presidents and, following that tour, were officially introduced to Gettysburg Mayor William G. Weaver, proprietor of the museum. After lunch at the Hotel Gettysburg, Wayne Cluck took over as guide and showed the guests through the new Visitor Center at Ziegler's Grove and then toured the Battlefield with Ranger Arnold Long as guide. This was followed by a tour of the electrical map and Monday evening, after the banquet, they were taken on a visit to the Civil

AUXILIARY OF HOSPITAL PUTS AUCTION OFF

With only 22 members present at the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Warner Hospital Monday afternoon, the program committee decided to hold the "white elephants" brought in and have the auction at the May meeting.

Mrs. David C. Stoner, president, conducted routine business and Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner served as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Robert A. Codori.

In the absence of Mrs. M. C. Jones, treasurer, the financial report was given by Mrs. Walter B. Dillon. The Carol Ann Shop gave the auxiliary a check for 10 per cent of the $115 worth of millinery sold at her shop the week following the hat show held at the last meeting. The Snack Bar account showed a loss due to the fact that jewelry and other articles had been purchased and not yet sold. The Photo Babe account showed a profit of $61.70.

1,004 MEMBERS

Mrs. Marie Tussing, membership chairman, reported 1,004 paid memberships to date. Seventy-five Gettysburg members owe their dues for the year which started in September, and 27 in the rural section. The dues are $1 per year and may be sent to her at Oak Ridge.

Mrs. James Allison, reporting for Mrs. Charles Weaver, chairman of the Photo Babe Committee, stated that 67 pictures were taken during the month and 66 paid for.

Mrs. Allison also discussed the horse show benefit to be held June 17. A meeting of the advertisement committee will be held at her home May 2. Members are requested to secure $1 sponsorships for the program and send them to Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, chairman. Mrs. Monroe Dellinger, ticket chairman, stated that the tickets will be sold at 50 cents each and will have stubs attached.

STOCK COUNTY STREAMS WITH FISH BY JUNE

The Adams County Fish and Game Association today announced plans to place $275 worth of trout in streams of the county and invited persons interested in the restocking program to donate additional sums to be used for that purpose.

Clark Spence, president of the Fish and Game group, said rainbow and brook trout, all 10 inches or longer, will be purchased from a private fish hatchery and placed in Marsh Creek and other streams by June 1.

The basic purchase will be the amount available from the Fish and Game Association funds, and any other donations will be welcomed. "The more we get, the more fish we'll buy," Spence said. Contributions are to be sent to William Singley, Cashtown, treasurer of the organization.

FISH AND PHEASANTS

The association plans to spend $550 on restocking this year, $275 for the fish this summer and a similar amount for pheasants in the fall. It is seeking additional donations for both programs.

Spence said the restocking program is the first carried out by the association since its reorganization last fall after being inactive for a number of years.

Plans of the association to place a number of small dams along the upper reaches of Marsh Creek will be carried out later this summer "after the streams get lower," Spence said.

Useless Mooncraft Tumbles Through Space Toward Back Of Moon; Instruments Dead

By CHARLES STAFFORD
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A mooncraft with an injured brain tumbled through space today toward an almost useless collision with the moon after scientists abandoned futile efforts to awaken it from its coma.

The 730-pound silver and gold craft, Ranger 4, will zip by the leading edge of the moon early Thursday and crash at about 8:55 a.m. on its hidden backside, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration says.

The deeply disappointed director of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, William H. Pickering, said: "It's kind of fun, though, to hit the backside. It's not everyone who can do that."

LAUNCHED MONDAY

Impact is expected to occur 63.9 hours after liftoff, at 13:66 degrees south latitude on the moon, 228.97 degrees east longitude.

Ranger 4 was lifted aloft by a towering Atlas-Agena B booster at 3:50 p.m. Monday in what appeared to be a beautiful beginning. Its assigned job was to gather information, including

$13,729 IN STATE FUNDS FOR FIREMEN

Thirty Adams County municipalities will receive a total of $13,729 to be used for Volunteer Firemen Relief Association funds, Auditor General Thomas Z. Minehart reported Monday at Harrisburg.

These funds mark the beginning of the payment to firemen's groups throughout the state of $3.3 million for use in welfare or pension plans.

The money being distributed is secured from the two per cent tax on net direct premiums or foreign fire insurance companies collected in 1960, including accumulations of surplus monies in the Fire Insurance Fund as of May 31, 1961.

LIST FOR COUNTY

Payments in Adams County were:

Boroughs: Abbotstown, $453; Arendtsville, $161; Bendersville, $119; Biglerville, $1,241; East Berlin, $445; Fairfield, $116; Gettysburg, $3,751; Littlestown, $895; McSherrystown, $666; New Oxford, $574; York Springs, $215.

Townships: Berwick, $84; Butler, $197; Conowingo, $329; Cumberland, $440; Franklin, $237; Freedom, $82; Germany, $70; Hamilton, $100; Hamiltonban, $413; Highland, $52; Huntingdon, $80; Latimore, $35; Menallen, $400; Mt. Pleasant, $118; Oxford, $429; Reading, $57; Straban, $252; Tyrone, $1,355; Union, $362.

Other donations included $15 to the county library and $5 each to the Cancer Society, Salvation Army and the Adams County Crippled Children's Society.

Ways and Means Chairman Barbara Richardson presented a final report on sale of cookbooks by members. The proceeds will go toward a charity project.

PLAN FOUNDERS' DAY

Auditing Committee Chairman Edith Riley, Social Chairman Mary Kay Daley and Banquet Chairman Patricia McCarthy were others who made reports at the meeting. It was announced that the "Girl of the Year" award will be presented on May 1 at the Lamp Post Tea Room when a Founders' Day dinner will be held with the Epsilon Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi as the host chapter.

Final plans were presented for the Exemplar Day program to be held on May 14 at the Lamp Post Tea Room when new officers will be installed and new members received.

Patricia McCarthy and Edith Riley spoke on the "Battle of Chattanooga" during the meeting as one of a series of programs on the Civil War being held during the year. Phyllis Hess spoke on the Atlanta campaign.

Hostesses for the meeting were Miss Myers and Doris Hann.

SCHOOL TAX IN STRABAN TWP. BEING RAISED

With school costs expected to jump about $40,000 for the township in the school year beginning July 2, the school directors of Straban Twp. at a special meeting Monday evening voted to raise the real estate millage two mills and boost the occupation levy from 10 per cent to 15 per cent. The new real estate rate will be 50 mills.

The board also voted to continue its one per cent tax on real estate transfers and the $14 per capita taxes.

A $30,000 jump in the township's share of the Gettysburg Joint School District's expenses was the largest increase for next year. Rentals on new schools went up $5,000 and the township will have to add another bus in the fall.

STATE AID LAGS

While township school costs are going up $40,000, the expected state appropriation will rise only about $9,000. The real estate transfer tax is expected to bring in about $6,000 and the per capita levy will yield about $18,600.

The township's real estate is assessed for tax purposes at $1,509,195 while occupational assessments total $226,555, almost three times the amount before last year's reassessment by the county commissioners.

With another bus to be added next fall, the directors estimate their transportation costs will come to about $29,450, an increase of nearly $4,000 over the current year. The new total on rentals due the school authority next year will be $26,785 while the township's share of the jointure costs will soar to $197,300. The state appropriation next year is expected to bring in only about $134,900 and the remainder must come from local sources.

President Hugh C. McIlhenny presided at the meeting which was held at the home of the board secretary, Oren H. Wilson. The only other director present was Levi Spangler.

FAIRFIELD NEEDS TEACHERS

Miss Janet Hollenback, Hollidaysburg, elected by the Fairfield Joint School board at its March meeting as a home economics teacher starting in September, has notified the board that she will be unable to accept the post. Supervising Principal George Inskip said today. The Fairfield system is seeking a home economics and a mathematics teacher to fill its staff for next year.

JACKET IS FOUND

A woman's black and white checked jacket was found outside The Times plant in Race Horse Alley at noon today and may be claimed by the owner at the Times office.

MANY DEEDS TO PROPERTIES PUT ON RECORD

South Mountain Development Co. of Baltimore and Fayetteville sold to John C. and May E. Wagner, Baldwin, Long Island, N.Y., for $1,100, a lot in Franklin Twp. on "Pine Ridge Lane." The deed is subject to 12 restrictions, some dealing with driveways, cutting trees and the beauty of the place and one providing that the premises "shall not be used or occupied by any person not of the Caucasian race other than the domestic employees of the owner of said property."

Leonard W. and Alberta P. Zimmerman, Liberty Twp., sold to William B. and Edna Ann Dixon, Baltimore, for $21,000, a 123-acre property in Liberty Twp. along the Emmitsburg-Fairfield Rd.

Robert A. and Patricia A. Passerin, Straban Twp., sold to Thomas C. and Janet G. Piper, same place, for $19,000, a property in Twin Oaks, Straban Twp.

OTHER TRANSFERS

Winston J. Garrett, Tyrone Twp., sold to Stanford F. and Betty Jane Roberts, Newton R. 1, for $19,000, a 156-acre property in Tyrone Twp.

George M. Trotter, of Maryland, sold to Alva R. McCurley, Adams County, for $10,000 a 55-acre property in Tyrone Twp.

D. H. Sharrer and Son Inc., New Chester, sold to John and Pauline Richardson, New Oxford R. 2, for $11,500 a two-acre property in Tyrone Twp.

Frank A. and Bonnie O. Bettis, Fairfield R. 1, sold to Vernon C.

LOCAL UNIT IS OBSERVING YWCA WEEK

National YWCA Week, which is being observed April 22-29 by the Young Women's Christian Association in Gettysburg, will inaugurate a new three-year theme, "The YWCA, Where You Can Belong," according to Mrs. Ralph D. Heim, executive director.

This year's celebration is the 15th in the nationwide observance. Six Y-Teen clubs will hold their regular meetings this week. The Annie Danner club will celebrate its 35th anniversary at the regular meeting this evening. World Membership Day, to be celebrated by YWCA's around the world, will be observed locally at the annual membership meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The Garden Club will hold its regular meeting on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The Sunday in YWCA Week will be April 29 since Easter fell on April 22. Members of the YWCA will attend church of their choice. Many of the community's pastors will call attention to the YWCA's contribution to the enrichment of community life.

National YWCA Week, Mrs. Heim said, "is a time when we in Gettysburg can join in a national observance demonstrating how the YWCA, through its various services, is fulfilling its commitment as a women's movement. The YWCA is at work today in 71 countries of the world, offering opportunities for girls and women of all races and creeds to find meaning in their lives, to develop their capacities for leadership, and to play an effective and constructive role in the life of today."

MAY INSPECT DAIRY UNIT

A loose-housing dairy unit, developed and built under a "package" plan by the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange, at the farm of G. Lawrence Hartman, Aspers R. 1, will be open for public inspection Thursday morning at 9 o'clock until dusk.

Hartman's farm is located just off Route 234, on the Idaville Road along the Biglerville-Heidelberg Road, about a mile east of Biglerville.

The loose-housing dairy unit, built especially for the 80-cow herd of Hartman, includes a loafing area and a milking parlor which can accommodate 12 cows at one time.

Under the package approach plan, dairy barns and poultry houses, as well as machinery sheds and loafing barns, are available to farmers. The plans are developed by Eastern States personnel at Springfield, Mass., and then approved by the farmer. A contract showing the complete price of buildings and equipment is signed by Eastern States and the farmer. When the job is completed, it carries a one-year guarantee for materials and workmanship.

Refreshments will be served and door prizes will be given away, with the drawings being made Saturday evening.

FILES SUIT IN '61 ACCIDENT

Earl L. Steinour, 56½ Breckenridge St., on his own behalf and on behalf of his son, Ricardo L. Steinour, nine, has brought an action in trespass in Adams County court against Roger E. Gardner, 227 Steinwehr Ave., and Grover E. Thompson, Hillcrest Place.

The action stems from an accident October 20, 1961, when Ricardo Steinour, enroute home from school on Chambersburg St., attempted to cross S. Washington St. and was struck by a northbound station wagon owned by Grover Thompson and being driven by Gardner.

The child suffered a broken right leg, cuts and abrasions and is in traction for about eight weeks at the Warner Hospital according to the complaint in trespass filed in the prothonotary's office by Mr. Steinour by Attorney Gerald Walmer.

The complaint alleges that the child's one leg is now shorter than the other as a result of the accident which will result in future need for care.

The three "actions" listed in the trespass complaint each ask "in excess of $5,000" damages.

STOCKS PUSH UP

NEW YORK (AP) — Selective gains pushed the stock market higher despite uneasiness in steels early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .70 at 255.40 with industrials up 1.20, rails up .10 and utilities up .40.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the general rule for key stocks.

U.S. Steel moved uncertainly, showing a small plus sign in early afternoon. The general trend of other steels was lower. Tobacco, oils, farm implements and most aerospace issues were on the upside.

FIRES RAVAGE TINDER DRY MOUNTAINS

With the mountain forests in a "tinder box condition," forest fire crews today continued on the alert after having fought six fires Monday, including one large blaze which burned over approximately 150 acres in the Green Ridge area.

The mountain fires Monday brought the number to which forest fire wardens have been called so far this spring to 26.

William F. Vandestine, Michaux District forester, said about 125 fire wardens and firemen from Fayetteville, South Mountain and Cashtown took part in the battle against the blaze on Green Ridge which raged out of control for four hours starting at 4:10 o'clock Monday afternoon. The blaze followed a long narrow strip down the mountain destroying a great amount of valuable timber but was confined to an isolated area where it threatened no homes.

At 12:37 Monday afternoon crews were summoned to Southampton Twp., Cumberland County, where one-half acre burned over. At 3:55 in the afternoon the crews were summoned to Peggy's Hill off the Antietam Rd. in Franklin County where three acres burned over in a stubborn blaze that was not under control until 5:25 o'clock.

In the meantime other crews had been called to the Green Ridge blaze at 4:10 o'clock.

At 5:35 o'clock a woods fire burned off one-quarter acre in Ström's Hollow near Shippensburg.

At 11 o'clock Monday night the fire fighters were called to the home of Mrs. Kathleen Kauffman in Franklin Twp. where a small area burned over near her home. The fires in South Mountain were duplicated in other areas of the state.

The Associated Press reported that in many cases the fires threatened to wipe out small communities and buildings near the burning areas.

A NASA spokesman said the Atlas had pushed the vehicle to an altitude of about 100 miles and separated, that the second-stage Agena had pushed the craft into parking orbit and cut off, that the Agena had fired a second time to launch Ranger 4 on the second leg of its journey, that the vehicle was on the proper flight path away from the earth at 24,500 miles an hour.

FUMBLING SLOWLY

Two hours later a spokesman said, "Tracking information indicates that a malfunction occurred in the spacecraft telemetry (radio) system."

"It does look like we have a fairly significant problem with the spacecraft," said Pickering minutes later. "We don't really know how major the failure is."

He said it could be in the craft's transmitting system only. However, he added, "There is an indication that the spacecraft has not locked onto (turned its solar battery panels toward) the sun. The spacecraft is slowly tumbling."

TROUBLE PRETTY DEEP

The fact that it hadn't locked onto the sun, he said, "certainly indicates that the trouble is pretty deep in the brain of the system."

Later, the trouble was tentatively diagnosed as a malfunctioning timer—a clock-like electronic device which was activated a few seconds before launching. It was supposed to provide the time-table for a central computer and sequencer which were to issue steering commands to Ranger 4.

Through the evening, commands were sent to the errant rocket from ground stations in an effort to shock it into action. Shortly before midnight, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Goldstone, Calif., issued a statement.

WANTED PICTURES

"Since Ranger 4 has not responded to commands from earth stations, a decision has been made not to send the spacecraft mid-course or terminal maneuver commands," the statement said.

The mid-course maneuver, scheduled for about 7:50 a.m. today when the rocket should have been near the midway point of its 229,541-mile journey, would have corrected its aim. The terminal maneuver, an hour before the impact with the moon, would have turned the craft so that the television camera would have taken pictures of the lighted side which faces the earth.

NASA scientists felt that any attempt to perform these maneuvers now would probably be futile and might knock Ranger 4 off its collision course.

4 EXPERIMENTS LOST

Although Ranger 4's radio command system failed, its radio beacons that permit ground stations to track it continued to function.

Four scientific experiments dissolved with Ranger 4's failure.

Its job as it neared the moon was to take photographs of the bright side, measure radioactivity emanating from the surface, and measure the moon's radar reflection properties. Then it was to land the balsawood encased ball containing instruments to record moonquakes, meteor hits and the temperature range.

The failure was the eighth straight by which a lunar probe by the United States has failed to achieve its goal.

The Soviet Union hit the moon's bright side with Lunik II in 1959, and that same year sent Lunik III around the moon for the first and only photographs of the never visible backside.

REPORTS COLLISION

Dale Kann, Gettysburg R. 1, reported to borough police Monday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock that his car has been struck in Lincoln Square by a blue Plymouth station wagon bearing Florida license and operated by a negro which continued on without stopping.

CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS SPEAK HERE

The four Democratic congressional candidates spoke on their qualifications for the office and solicited members' support for the May 15 primary at a meeting of the Democratic Men's Club of Adams County last Thursday evening in the REA building, rear of N. Stratton St.

The candidates, who were introduced by Adams County Democratic Chairman Fred G. Klunk, were Mrs. Jane Alexander, Earl Warner, Kern Smith and Gibson Smith Jr.

Klunk also introduced Attorney Eugene R. Hartman, Democratic candidate for the state Assembly.

President Emory Hammer introduced Gilbert Lupp, vice president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Pennsylvania, who urged the members to attend the Young Democrats' dinner at Banker's Restaurant, Littlestown, May 3. The dinner will begin at 7:30 p.m. Lupp said that State Auditor General Thomas Z. Minehart will be the main speaker.

Lupp also announced that Senator Joseph S. Clark will be the principal speaker at the Central Area Young Democratic conference June 2-3 at the VFW Home in Gettysburg.

The group approved a donation of $10 to the Gary Carr fund.

Armco Steel Faces An Employee Suit

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Armco Steel Corp. faces a suit for nearly $50 million as a result of the shutdown of the firm's plant in nearby Etna.

The suit was filed in U. S. District Court Monday in behalf of 1,219 former employees at Etna. Armco moved the Etna operations to new facilities at its Ambridge plant.

Attorneys Samuel L. Goldstein and Leo Kostman, in filing the suit, said the transfer to Ambridge was a move to end the labor agreements in force at the Etna plant. These agreements included incentive pay and recognition of a white collar local, neither of which are a part of the agreements in force at the Ambridge plant.

Contending further that Armco deliberately misled the United Steelworkers Union into believing the new mill would employ only 325, the suit said "Nearly 1,000 men have been employed at the new mill, some of them former Etna employees coming on as new men with no seniority."

Club Honors Canadian Guests

"U.S.-Canada Good Will Week" was observed by the Kiwanis Club Monday as part of a national program by the Kiwanis. Guests for the local event were an Ontario, Canada, couple and their daughter. The three were shown through several museums, taken on a tour of the battlefield and were guests at a banquet last evening in the Lamp Post Tea Room. In the picture are, left to right, Apollon Trembow, principal speaker; Stanley Elliott and Mrs. Elliott; Miss Isabelle Elliott and President Roy Thomas. (Times photo)

REPORT SHOWS

Cross offices on Baltimore St. a number of directors said that some sort of "Community Chest" campaign should be adopted for the county. Col. Thomas Allen, noting that "everytime the door bell rings its someone seeking funds," said that a community chest drive for the county should include Gettysburg, as well as the rest of the county, and should include all campaigns for funds. Those who now serve as solicitors for one campaign also frequently serve for the others as well and "it is asking too much of them, and of the donors." Dr. Baughman listed seven campaigns conducted simultaneously with the Red Cross drive.

No definite action was taken by the board to promote a county-wide united fund campaign, but it gave approval for the Gettysburg Community Chest to use one of the rooms in the offices of the Red Cross as a Community Chest office and it was indicated that the board will express its hope for a county-wide United Fund drive to the Gettysburg Community Chest with the hope that it may be able to get underway some program leading to a county-wide campaign.

Dr. Baughman's recommendations for next year's campaign included division of a number of areas into smaller components to permit a more intensive campaign.

AREA REPORTS

His report showed the following income: Liberty and Hamilton Twp., Mrs. John Eisenhower and Rev. Otti Kroeger, cochairmen, $341.51; Franklin and Highland, Col. Thomas H. Allen, chairman, $426.31; Menallen and Butler Twp., Mrs. J. W. Beidler, $560.88; Huntingdon and Latimore, Carl Warrick and Rev. Ray Jones, cochairmen, $58.30; Reading, Hamilton, Straban, Berwick and Tyrone, Rev. Douglas Boden, $115.35; Cumberland, Mt. Joy and Freedom, Mrs. J. F. Foy, chairman, $132.85; Germany, Mt. Pleasant and Union, David Kammerer, chairman, $730.12; Oxford, C. P. Keefer, chairman, $425; Conewago, Mrs. Ronald Hagerman and Mrs. Harry Walter, $155.56; Biglerville, Mrs. A. L. Leinart and Paul Wagner, $299.60; Arendtsville, Mrs. Richard Trostel, $95.75; Business and Industry, L. S. Long, chairman, $947.

Dr. Baughman urged that the preparations for next year's March drive begin in November and urged greater public relations efforts to "tell the public what the Red Cross does and also what it cannot under its charter do."

SEEK REIMBURSEMENT

A nominating committee was appointed including Col. Thomas Allen, Ralph Barley, Basil Benson, Attorney S. M. Raffensperger, Mrs. John Eisenhower, Mrs. Thomas Cline, Mrs. Leroy Wine-at Littlestown and Hanover, was filled with furniture. It was a two-story structure, formerly used as a cigar box factory. Mr. Geisler's son said none of the store's workmen had been to the warehouse this morning.

When power was cut off because of the closeness of the fire to the substation, a portable generator was used to keep Littlestown's telephone service in operation.

Smoke from the fire could be seen as far north as the southern limits as Gettysburg. Roger Keefer, Littlestown borough secretary, reported the scene as "like a volcano" as smoke poured from the warehouse and other buildings.

The fire raged out of control for about two hours. The fire was reported discovered by Mrs. Allen Noble, 57½ E. King St., who went to her back yard and saw smoke pouring from the warehouse.

Dickinson To Note 75th Anniversary

The 75th anniversary of the founding of the Dickinson College chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholarship society, will be observed Thursday. An address at 11 a.m. by Prof. Eugene Parker Chase of Lafayette College, member of the society's national executive body, will be followed by a luncheon for 200 delegates and other guests.

Gettysburg College delegate will be Dean Charles R. Glafelter. Dickinson was the first college in Pennsylvania to receive a charter of the society. This was in April, 1887. There are now 15 chapters in Pennsylvania.

Bob Kurland of Oklahoma A and M, Alex Groza of Kentucky and Jerry Lucas of Ohio State are the only players in the 24-year history of the NCAA basketball tournament to be awarded most valuable player honors two consecutive years.

brenner, Mrs. Robert Reindollar, Dr. Lloyd Keefauver and Mrs. P. J. McGlynn.

A letter from a National Red Cross auditor was read showing amounts totaling $4,960.69 expended over a three-year period from 1959 to this year "reflects misuse of funds." The board directed the chairman to contact Attorney Raffensperger to take the steps necessary to secure reimbursement from the bonding company to cover the amount.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Rebecca Schwenk for her work in carrying on the activities of the Red Cross until the new secretary, William McCrorie, was elected. McCrorie was introduced to the board at the meeting.

3 CANADIANS

GUESTS DELIGHTED

Mr. Elliott, speaking for the three, said that "it was quite a surprise, a very delightful one." He said, "The club has a real quality here. Gettysburg is a good place to come to, but there must be good people in the place to make a person feel at home."

"We had a wonderful day here. We are delighted to be in Gettysburg and with its people," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott have now retired from teaching and he is a career consultant. He had at one time served as director of guidance for all the high schools in a city of 84,000 persons. He noted that his wife was a descendant of President Andrew Johnson and recalled that all presidents have been very friendly toward Canada.

HEAR TREMBOW

Apollon Trembow, of Orrtanna, and a registered practical nurse at the Samuel G. Dixon State Hospital, South Mountain, was the principal speaker. He was also a teacher when a citizen of the Ukraine.

Trembow told how he grew up under a Communist dictatorship and noted the advantages that he has in the U. S., which he didn't have in the Ukraine. Pointing out the freedoms one has in the U. S., he said, "I am happy because this country is my country. America is our new fatherland. We really have freedom in the U. S. and Canada, and the reason people came here is because we feel like we are at home."

Trembow related many stories of how his family was forced to live under fear for their lives. He said that his wife's father was arrested and executed by Khrushchev in 1938 in the Ukraine "for apparently no reason at all."

AUTHORED TWO BOOKS

The practical nurse said that many of his friends and relatives now are living in Canada and he corresponds with them frequently. The Ukrainians have formed an organization to help bring relatives and friends to the two countries.

Trembow is the author of two volumes, entitled "The Black Deeds of the Kremlin." For a time, he served as a journalist in the Ukraine before coming to Adams County in 1949 under the sponsorship of I. Z. Musseiman. In 1954, he testified before a Congressional committee on Communism aggression and, in 1959, he appeared before the Un-American Activities Committee of the House, relating "crimes of Khrushchev."

OTHER CLUB BUSINESS

Trembow, who is married and has four children, was in an Italian Nazi concentration camp in 1941 and 1942, and was in a German Nazi labor camp in 1944. His parents joined him in America in 1958.

Hold Laborer In Murder Over Ticket

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—An Atlantic City laborer was being held today in an undisclosed place after being arraigned on a charge of murdering patrolman Clayton Graham of the Atlantic City police force following a discussion of a traffic ticket Graham issued Williams late Sunday.

The accused man, Louis V. (Gabby) Williams, 33, entered a mandatory plea of innocent before Atlantic County Court Judge Paul Salsburg Monday.

Williams was charged with shooting Graham to death early Monday. Graham, 42, a 14-year police veteran, was slain while seated in his car in front of his home.

Williams is a Negro as was Graham.

senting all parts of the state and all the different interests of the state. There are men whose interest is agriculture, or industry, or coal mining, or union activity, men whose interests are rural and men whose interests are urban. Thus we have a metropolitan legislature and its laws reflect that metropolitan interest.

"At the last session of the legislature we had about 3,000 bills before us, of which 791 were passed into laws. All were designed to meet some problem. From the mass of bills you can understand how it is that occasionally, and it is only occasionally, a bill passes which contains some overlooked gimmick, of which we are not proud and which must be changed later."

Vice President Clark Smith introduced the speaker. President Richard Newsham presided at the meeting.

Carry Back, winner of the 1962 Kentucky Derby, ran more races as a 2-year-old than any other Derby winner. The colt owned by Mrs. Katherine Price started 21 times as a juvenile.

ward Kuhn's birthday, President Thomas reported that the local club had tied for second place in the district standings for the last month. He also said that Gettysburg is one of three clubs with 90 per cent or better attendance.

William Lyons, Plymouth, Mich., was introduced as a guest and Warren Apgar, from Bankers Insurance Group, was introduced as a new member.

Charles Pentz announced that the airport committee will meet this evening at the REA building and, on May 21, the club will visit the new cyclorama.

Dr. George Wolfe reported that the baseball schedule for the Big Little League had been prepared and the season will open May 21. President Thomas urged all members to give their support by attending the games.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Practice for "A Nautical Knot" to be rendered by the Gettysburg High School Alumni Association in the High School building Friday evening, May 3, has been progressing very nicely and the committee in charge feels sure that it is going to give the public one of the best musical entertainments that have been given by local talent in Gettysburg for some time. The music throughout is very catchy while the songs are full of the true sailor life and the operetta throughout portrays the sailor life very well. The following are in the cast: Mrs. R. E. Zinn, Miss Reba Miller, Edgar Miller, Calvin Hartman, John Blocher, Benton Radisill, Richard Mishler, Maurice Baker, Miss Hazel Thorm, Mrs. Arthur Schmitt and Miss Olive Hoke. The accompanist will be Miss Carrie Hamilton. The following will take part in the various choruses: Misses Alma Sheads, Ethel Weaver, Grace Sachs, Mary Rowe, Louise Stahle, Hattie Ziegler, Mary Sheads, Mrs. R. E. Bushman, and Messrs. Luther Musselman, Erle Diehl, Clyde Bream, Luther McDonnell, Benton Radisill and Charles Culp.

Live Right, Dress Right And You're All Right: There isn't a man in the world more entitled good luck than yourself. Lippy clothes are the kind that put you right. J. D. LIPPY, Tailor.

New Photoplay: Lubin - Esanay. The Office Favorite - Lubin, showing that the little office boy, the favorite, plays a hero's part; Alias, Billy Sargent, Esanay Drama; With a Kodak, Biography Comedy; Pants and Pansies, Comedy.
Wizard Theatre, Melies, Pathe, Selig: The Mortgage - Melies, a romance in an oil country; A Windy Dream, a Pathe comedy, Billy has a gigantic wind mill and he has a trip to the moon; Life in Our Ponds - Scenic; Two Old Pals - Comedy Drama.

Happenings In And About Town: L. M. Allemen has been reappointed postmaster at Littlestown, Mr. Dyer, from the J. S. Everhart studios, York, is doing the artist's work at the interior decorations of the Pari-Siamo Club rooms in the Spangler building on Baltimore Street. The first argument among battlefield guides occurred at the Western Maryland station this morning when a half dozen solicited the trade of two women. Criminal matters were quickly disposed of at the April session of Court. The effort to rid the county of annoying tramps seems to meet with general approval, and little sympathy is felt for Delaney or Toulay. Wednesday, May 1, is to be observed at college as dandelion day. All the members of the Freshman class will be required to pull out dandelion plants on the campus while the other students watch them work. It is hoped to rid the ground of the flower in this way. It is reported by the forestry inspectors that the chestnut blight has appeared on South Mountain. Every effort will be made to stamp it out before further damage is done. Anglers who have been fishing for trout in the mountain streams say that the fish are more plentiful than usual. Some good catches have been made.

Will Open New Residence Tract: The portion of Gettysburg lying north of the Western Maryland Railroad and east of Stratton Street has been heretofore practically useless as a dwelling tract for the reason that there was no means of access to it except over a very dangerous railroad crossing at Third Street. A new street known as Fourth Street, beginning at E. Middle St. and extending northward to Hanover, York, has been ordered and opened by the Town Council from York Street through lands of Martin Winter, Western Maryland Railroad Company, Mrs. R. Lee Tipton and Charles Harr and heirs of Dr. John A. Swope, to an intersection with Love Lane. For the purposes of further development.

Today's Talk

THE "NOBLE PLEASURE OF PRAISING"

It doesn't take much brains to criticize. A fool can tear a wise man's effort to bits. But it takes quite a big man to praise — justly and honestly. And only those who have sincerely wrought are worth praising — or blaming for that matter.

I once read of a great editor who visited a young writer. A measure of success had come. He had bought a new home and was happy in the anticipation of literary growth. But on the editor's way home he purchased a newspaper, and therein read a most cruel and unjust review of his friend's latest book. Then and there he decided thereafter to devote all his efforts to the "noble pleasure of praising."

Creative work is difficult enough, at its best.

We worry about the stones other people carry about with them, ready to hurl at us upon the merest provocation, never thinking of the stones we ourselves carry about for the same purpose. You will never go wrong by saying good of anyone.

We are daily uplifted by the praise of others. We may not deserve it at all, but the more praise that comes our way, the more liable we are of being worthy of it as we live and learn. The unkind words you say or pen are so much poison that you automatically pour back into your own heart to its everlasting hurt. None of us is guiltless, but each of us can blot out much of ill doing in this world by acquiring the noble art of praising, and making it one of the habits of our life.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Realist" Protected, 1962, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

WHEN'S ALL WELL
These things I am sure are worth owning:
A garden to plant in the spring,
Some useful devices for loaning
To neighbors who come borrowing,
A pot or a kettle or spices,
A novel or two which you've read,
A pantry which hunger suffices
And a durable roof over head.

These gladden man's heart for the minute!
The blossom and fruit of a tree;
A cage with a singing bird in it,
The smile of a child at his knee,
The flavor of food on his table,
In winter a chair at his fire;
For his wife either mink coat or sable —
Then little is left to desire.

These are every man's lesser successes!
His home and his lawn and his car;
His women folks' bonnets and dresses,
All's well if sufficient they are.
All's well if there's fuel in the cellar
And meat in the pantry and bread,
With a warm coat and gloves and umbrella
And a durable roof overhead.

Herbst five and one half acres, heirs of Dr. John A. Swope seven acres. It is expected that the Town Council will ordain and open an extension of Water Street east from Stratton St. through lands of Lewis Barbehenn, Charles Kappes, Gettysburg Furniture Co. and Martin Winter, to the intersection with Fourth St. This will give the new furniture company a direct outlet to Stratton St. and also to York St. Martin Winter will then continue Water St. through his land and parallel with the Western Maryland R. R. almost to the eastern limits of the borough and thence south to the street now opened and lying immediately on the north side of the railroad. He will also continue Fourth St. north over the route of Love Lane, making it 50 feet in width, to an intersection with Lincoln Avenue which he will continue eastward from the Harrisburg Road. This improvement will open up a building frontage of about one and a half miles.

PA. PRIMARY IS ONLY THREE WEEKS AWAY

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP) — Three weeks from today Democratic and Republican voters will choose the cast for Pennsylvania's most significant drama, the general election.

In choosing their parties' candidates the voters will—literally and figuratively—open the curtains for what is billed as a campaign of national as well as state interest.

The curtains are on the thousands of voting machines distributed across the state in most of the more than 9,100 precincts. The remaining polling places will use the old-fashioned paper ballots.

IMPORTANT OFFICES

In the 13 hours ending at 8 p.m. EST, May 15, the registered voters of each party will choose candidates for governor, the U.S. Senate, secretary of internal affairs, lieutenant governor, 27 congressional seats, 25 State Senate seats and 210 House seats.

But despite the importance of the primary elections, leaders of both parties look for only a 35 to 40 per cent turnout from among the more than five million registered voters.

Those estimates are based on showings in recent key election years.

MANY UNCONTESTED

If there is voter apathy May 15, a lack of contests probably would have a lot to do with it.

In both parties only the statewide nomination for governor is contested. For the other three state-wide offices organization-backed candidates are unopposed.

Out of the congressional seats only 10 Democratic and nine Republican nominations are contested. For the 25 Senate seats only 10 Democratic and 12 Republican nominations are contested.

Among the 135 legislative districts—represented by 210 House seats—there are Democratic contests in only 61 districts and GOP contests in 78 districts.

LIVELIEST CAMPAIGN

The liveliest campaign has been for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. U. S. Rep. William W. Scranton, Dalton, is vying with J. Collins McSparran, Drumore.

Scranton, the organization-backed candidate, so far has chosen to ignore McSparran, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange. With the backing of the GOP organization Scranton is considered the front runner.

Scranton has spent the spring months making public appearance across the state. His public statements have been directed at the Democrats—particularly the administration of Gov. Lawrence.

McSPARRAN'S CLAIM

But McSparran has contended he is the only Republican who can win the governorship at the Nov. 8 general election. Like Scranton, he has directed most of his campaigning at the Democratic regime.

McSparran opened a billboard campaign Monday, partially financed by a series of $5-a-plate dinners he has held across the state.

Politically, Scranton is considered a middle of the road Republican.

As such, he has won the endorsement of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower of Gettysburg. Should Scranton win the nomination indications are Eisenhower would campaign for him.

McSparran is considered a conservative. His grange affiliations has given him an organization and forum among the Commonwealth's rural people.

Drive-in Movies Get Sunday Fines

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The managers of two drive-in movie theaters have been fined $50 and costs on charges of violating State Blue Laws by showing movies on Sunday.

The two, Paul R. Rager and Thomas A. Filizzi, whose theaters are outside the city limits, pleaded guilty at a hearing Monday before Justice of the Peace Charles Martin.

They were arrested Monday April 16 and charged with showing movies the day before in violation of a state law which prohibits Sunday movies in communities where the voters have not approved them by referendum.

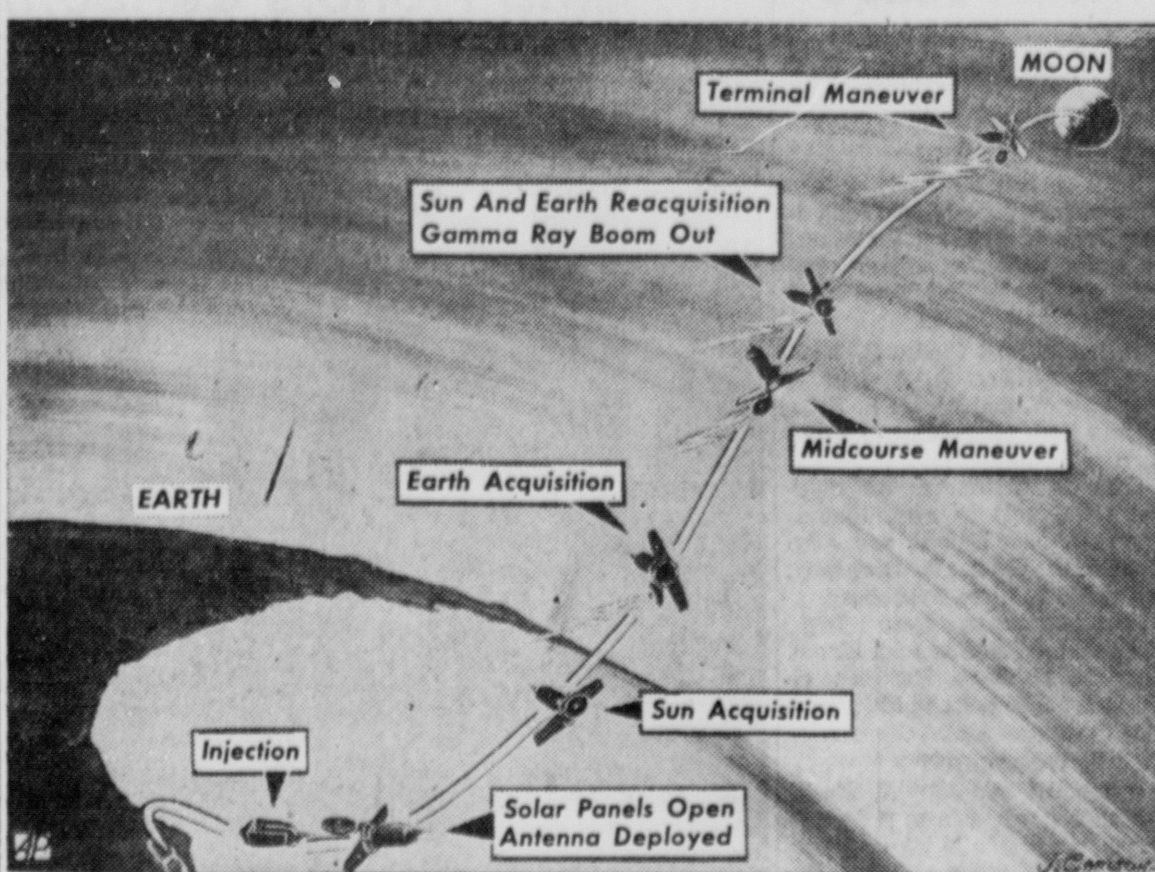

negro hotel waiter, Thursday morning mounted the steps of the scaffold in Dauphin County jail and a few minutes later paid the law's penalty for the murder last June of Daniel K. Miller, proprietor of the Dauphin Hotel and former proprietor of Hotel Gettysburg. And as Gilbert slowly climbed to the trap, tier after tier of quiet prisoners within the jail caught the air and joined in the chorus. It had been the young prisoner's last request that his fellow prisoners sing the hymn with him. Gilbert, a bellhop and waiter at the Dauphin, shot and killed Miller after he had discharged him.

Planned Path To Moon

Sketch shows planned 60-hour flight of the Ranger 4 spacecraft to the moon. The craft was rocketed from Cape Canaveral Monday. Injection is the point at which the spacecraft takes course to moon after separating from Atlas-Agena rocket. At points indicated as earth and sun acquisition and reacquisition, Ranger 4's attitude control system is "locked" on to earth and sun. EGG HUNT IS HELD SUNDAY

Over 50 children enjoyed the annual Easter egg hunt held by the Junior Woman's Club of Littlestown for the children of members.

The event was held on Saturday afternoon on the lawn in the rear of the Maple Avenue school. The children hunted in three age groups and prizes were awarded for the highest number and second highest number of eggs found in each group as follows: Age one to three, John Hull, first, and Linda Moose, second; age four to seven, Michael Feeser and Gina Geisler; age eight to 10, Toni Rebert and Kathy Sell. The prize egg was found by Debbie Moose. Arrangements for the hunt were in charge of Mrs. Donald P. Sell, Mrs. C. Moss Morehead Jr. and Mrs. Robert Kress.

The Junior Woman's Club will be the annual Mother's Night banquet program on Wednesday, May 16, at 6:30 p.m. at the Starlite Room, Dutcher's Restaurant. Colored slides on Hawaii will be shown by Miss Lee Ann Leaphart, Gettysburg. Tickets are $2 each and May 11 is the deadline for making reservations with Mrs. Donald Cook. The fine arts committee, Mrs. Charles Kump, chairman, will be in charge of the affair.

Members of the club will attend the spring meeting of the Adams County Federation of Women's Clubs at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 2, in the directors' room at the Littlestown State Bank and Trust Co. The guest speakers for the occasion will be Mrs. Robert G. Crist, junior chairman of international affairs, and Mrs. L. Walter Coble, president of the South Central District.

The Girl Scouts of Troop 957 completed work on the dabbler badge at the meeting on Wednesday 7:30 p.m., the group will rehearse for participation in the annual Court of Awards on May 15.

A covered dish supper will be held in conjunction with the meeting of the Starr Bible Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday in the church social hall. Each member should take a guest and a covered dish food. Mrs. Arthur E. Bair Sr., Mrs. Walter Shriver and Mrs. C. Edgar Pfeiffer will serve as hostesses.

Explorers Meet: Thomas Shildt, president, presided at the brief business session at the weekly meeting of Explorer Post No. 84 Monday evening at the Community Center. Safety merit badge requirements were advanced and those Explorers who have already earned this badge, worked on camping equipment. The merit badge requirements will be continued at the meeting.

Seek Settlement On Hit-Run Charge

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — U. S. Atty. Drew J. T. O'Keefe today sought to settle out of court the charges by Dist. Atty. Frederick O. Brubaker of Berks County who claims his car was sideswiped by an auto driven by a revenue agent in Reading on April 16.

O'Keefe said Monday he planned to confer with Brubaker prior to Brubaker's scheduled appearance today before a federal grand jury here investigating alleged gambling activities in the Reading area.

O'Keefe said if the settlement move failed, he would petition the U. S. District Court here to assume jurisdiction over the case. Brubaker obtained a warrant against James J. Baldwin, an Internal Revenue Service agent, after the alleged sideswiping incident, charging Baldwin with assault, assault by automobile and failing to identify himself after an accident.

The Rev. William C. Karns, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, baptized two children on Easter Sunday in the church. They were: Pamela Kay Sentz, born May 2, 1960, and Diana Lynn Sentz, born January 26, 1962, children of Robert Monroe Jr. and Doris Elizabeth DeGroot Sentz. The parents were the baptismal sponsors.

The annual mother and daughter banquet of Century Methodist Church will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 2, in the Grace Lutheran Church parish hall, Two Taverns. The affair is being sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service and reservations are to be made with Mrs. Bertha Shull, Mrs. Betty Warehime or Mrs. Faye Damm.

Mrs. Guy McCabe and Mrs. Roscoe Klinefelter will be leaders at the April meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Luke's Union Church, near White Hall, on Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the church.

Boy Scout Troop No. 84 will meet at the Community Center on Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. Plans will be furthered for the spring Appalachian Trail hike scheduled for May 5 and 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Scholl and children Gary, Melinda and Todd, Ridley Park, spent the Easter weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Scholl, Queen St., and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theron W. Spangler, Patrick Ave.

Reserved seat tickets for the Adams County Junior Miss Pageant are now available at Marvin's Cut-Rate Store, S. Queen St. Persons already having general admission tickets may exchange them for reserved seats. The pageant will be held on Saturday, May 5, at 8 p.m. in the Littlestown High School auditorium, under the sponsorship of the local Lions Club.

Father Watches Son Die In Fire

BEAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A horrified father saw his 13-year-old son burn to death Monday when a small farm tractor which the youngster was driving overturned and burst into flames.

Deputy Coroner George Garman identified the victim as Robert Middlesworth, son of Clarence Middlesworth, Beavertown, Snyder County.

The youngster was driving the tractor down a steep, curving dirt road about five miles north of his home when the accident occurred. His father was following in a station wagon.

Garman said the tractor apparently skidded out of control, tossed young Middlesworth to the ground, toppled over on him, then caught fire.

The boy's father first attempted to free his son from the wreckage, but the fire made his task impossible. He then raced to a nearby house for help.

Only smoldering wreckage remained when firemen from nearby Middleburg arrived.

LITTLESTOWN — A public card party will be held at 8 p.m. on Wednesday in the general purpose room of the Rolling Acres School. The affair is being sponsored by the Woman's Community Club of Littlestown and vicinity for the benefit of the local free lending library. A donation of 50 cents will be received from each patron and tickets may be secured at the door or from any member of the club. Door prizes and card party prizes will be awarded and the prizes are now on display in the window at the John L. Redding Barber Shop, S. Queen St. Final arrangements for the party are in charge of the fine arts department, Mrs. Leroy W. Bish, chairman. The affair will replace the April meeting of the club.

The Littlestown baseball team of the South Penn Sandlot League will practice on Tuesday and Thursday at 5:45 p.m. and on Saturday at 1 p.m. on Memorial Field.

The annual banquet of the Degree Team Association of Littlestown Castle No. 31, Ancient Order Knights of the Mystic Chain will be held in the Harney Fire Hall on Wednesday, May 2 at 6:30 p.m.

Easter visitors with Mrs. Thomas O. Weaver and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Altoff, and family, E. Myrtle St., were the Rev. Fr. Dale G. Sneeringer, Holy Trinity Parish, Columbia; his mother, Mrs. John L. Sneeringer and her daughters, Jean Marie, Carol Ann and Mrs. Cyril Hagerman, and children, Rochelle and Scott, New Oxford R. D.

Miss Grizelda Hahn, a student nurse at Washington Hospital Center School of Nursing, Washington, D. C., spent the Easter weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Hahn, and family, Park Ave.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Vestevich and their daughter, Jacqueline, Detroit, Mich., visited during the Easter weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Roberts, Maple Ave.

Reserved seat tickets for the Adams County Junior Miss Pageant are now available at Marvin's Cut-Rate Store, S. Stengel, Mets Snap Bucs' Streak; Get First Victory

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
"Some day pretty soon we're gonna beat someone pretty bad," Casey Stengel said. A few hours later, the New York Mets did it.

The prophecy and its fulfillment occurred at Pittsburgh Monday night as Manager Stengel surveyed the results of the Mets first nine games in the National League—all losses—and offered his opinion before sending his cast of hand-me-downs out to meet the Pirates.

The result was a 9-1 victory for the Mets, their first in the National League and the honor of grabbing victory No. 1 for the Mets went to Jay Hook, a 25-year-old right-hander who equalled his entire victory output for Cincinnati last season by checking the Pirates on five hits while ending Pittsburgh's victory streak at 10.

DOUBLE TRIUMPH

The triumph kept the Mets from getting a major league mark for consecutive losses at the start of the season. It halted the Pirates' efforts to establish an all-time high for consecutive wins at the start of a season.

In other games Monday night, San Francisco defeated Cincinnati 4-1 behind Billy Pierce's seven-hit pitching and the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped Milwaukee 5-2. Philadelphia and Houston were rained out. Chicago and St. Louis were idle. The American League had a day off.

Felix Mantilla opened the big game for the Mets with a single and the New Yorkers never let up until Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente hit into a force out to end it.

A 14-hit attack, with Mantilla and Elio Chacon splitting six hits, got the job done and chased Pirates' starter Tom Sturdivant (1-1) in the second inning. Sacrifice flies by Gus Bell and Frank Thomas sent Mantilla and Chacon across with a pair of first-inning runs and gave Hook all he needed.

Pierce gets second Hook struck out two and walked only one, allowing the Pirates their lone run in the sixth on singles by Dick Schofield and Dick Groat and Bob Skinner's ground out.

Pierce, 35-year-old left-hander acquired in a trade with Chicago's White Sox, went the distance for his second triumph for the Giants, striking out seven Reds and allowing no walks. Harvey Kuenn was 3-for-4, getting a key single in both the first and second innings as the Giants scored once in each. The runs came across on two misuses by catcher Hank Foote, Kuenn scoring on a passed ball and Jim Davenport on a wild pickoff throw.

Joe Moeller, a 19-year-old right-hander, won it for the Dodgers, holding the Braves to nine hits while going the route for his first major league victory. He has lost once. Home runs by John Roseboro, a two-run shot, and Willie Davis, a bases-empty "second chance" blast, handed Lew Burdette his third loss without a win. Davis, who fled out to open the fifth, got another try when the umpires ruled Burdette's pitch a ball because his foot had left the rubber.

STENGEL HAPPY OVER METS WIN

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Casey Stengel, delighted with his New York Mets' first baseball victory, said Monday night, "I'm so excited I'm shaking."

"We were on a long nap," the former Yankee manager told newsmen after the Mets clipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-1 for their first league victory after nine straight losses.

"If we win 99 more we'll take this pennant. All I want to know is where have we been. Someone must have given us a pill."

Stengel's Mets banged out 14 hits while Jay Hook was holding the Pirates to five hits and ending the Pirates winning string at 10.

"That's the best pitching I've had from the team so far this year," Stengel said, adding with a grin: "I want to tell you I'm gonna let him pitch every day."

The Mets seem to think the victory is what they needed to loosen and start winning some games.

"I sure hope this gets us started," said Hook, "I think everyone was pressing too much. We wanted to win so bad."

PIERSALL SEEKS HITS

BOSTON (AP) — Jimmy Piersall feels the base hits soon will begin to fall, curing an ailing .174 batting average.

The Washington outfielder hopes to get back into action here today against the Red Sox after being sidelined by a twisted ankle since last Friday.

Tony Taylor Ups Average 100 Pts.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Second baseman Tony Taylor of the Philadelphia Phillies has hiked his batting average 100 points from .120 to .212 and Manager Gene Mauch is hoping the second baseman will keep on improving since the Phillies are counting heavily on him.

Taylor did it in just two weeks' victories over Houston, in which he played a key role with four hits, two stolen bases and improved fielding.

The Phillies were rained out on Monday night at Houston and they moved into Milwaukee for a night game tonight against the Braves with Art Mahaffey scheduled to face Warren Spahn.

Taylor thinks the warmer weather in Houston is one reason for his improvement at the plate and on the bases. Prior to the series, he hadn't stolen a base.

"It's hard for me to play in the cold weather," he said. "That (warmer weather) helped me and I'm also hitting better because I quit trying to pull the ball. I don't hit the ball good to left field. I hit the ball up in the air all the time. When I go to right I hit the ball sharp."

Then came the 19th-hole — the par 5, 558-yard No. 1 on Memorial Park municipal course that Nichols hadn't even been able to birdie in five rounds.

Nichols got into trouble with his tee shot, but it was long trouble. He drove about 318 yards and to the right of the fairway.

He asked his caddy for the No. 4 wood and belted the ball smack onto the green to put the pressure on Sikes.

Sikes, a law grad from the University of Florida, calmly made a birdie.

Nichols and Sikes, officially given a second-place tie, won $3,800 each, making it the biggest pay day of the year for all three.

Nichols, a pro since 1959, increased his winnings for the year to $17,874.67 in official money. He had not won a tournament until he finished first at St. Petersburg earlier this year. He picked up enough unofficial money Monday from endorsements to make his eagle worth $14,750.

NICHOLS COPS HOUSTON OPEN ON 19TH HOLE

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Nichols took a flying leap from 18th to fourth place in the PGA money rankings by winning the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic.

He owes it all to a beautiful, 240-yard shot from the rough he made Monday with a four wood.

"It was my best shot of the tournament," said the 26-year-old former Southwest Conference champion from Texas A&M.

It set him up with an eight-foot putt for an eagle on the 19th hole of a scheduled 18-hole playoff to win the Classic's $9,000 first prize.

Nichols defeated Dan Sikes, a 30-year-old unknown from Jacksonville, Fla., and Jack Nicklaus, the 1961 National Amateur champion. Sikes and Nichols tied at 71 on the 18-hole playoff with Nicklaus five strokes behind.

TEN DEAD IN AUTO MISHAPS OVER WEEKEND

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ten persons were killed in traffic accidents in Pennsylvania over the Easter weekend during which thousands of cars jammed highways as ideal weather prevailed.

Two persons died in fires and four others were killed in other types of accidents, making the overall toll 16 from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

Among the traffic accidents two multiple fatalities which claimed a total of five lives.

Mrs. Bessie E. Parker, 56, of Waynesburg R. 3, and Miss Charlotte Rush, 17, of Waynesburg R. 2, were killed Sunday in a two-car collision near Waynesburg. Three other persons were injured.

State police said a car driven by Miss Ruth's mother, Mrs. Anna K. Rush, 47, one of the injured, pulled onto Route 21 from a side road and was struck by an oncoming auto.

CROSS KEYS MISHAP

A head-on collision Friday night on Route 94 near Hanover killed a couple and their grandson. Dead were Thomas Franklin Cole, 66, his wife, Elsie, 68, and their grandson, Thomas Cole, 3. The Coles were from Reisterstown, Md. The boy lived in Gardner's R. 1.

The other victims included: Youngsville—Frederick Henry Rex Jr., 10, killed Sunday when he climbed aboard a tractor, released a brake and the tractor rolled backwards into a barn and overturned near this Warren County town.

Pittsburgh—Alexandria Balouris, 4 months, suffocated Saturday night after pulling a plastic garment over her head, police said.

Pittsburgh—Martin Friedel, 62, killed in fire at his home in suburban Shaler Township Sunday.

Pittsburgh—William Allen Dunn, 40, killed in a car crash in Township Sunday when the car in which he was riding struck a pole.

TRACTOR OVERTURNS

Butler—David S. Link, 14, Butler, killed when a tractor overturned Saturday.

Mount Lebanon—Richard A. Schall, 40, killed Saturday when the car in which he was riding hit a pole.

Red Lion—Terry Brown, 18, killed Saturday when the car in which he was riding hit a tree during a high speed chase with police.

Derry—Mrs. John Connelley, died in a fire at her home Sunday. Fire officials said she apparently fell asleep while smoking in bed.

Pennsburg—Robert Ferlauto, 17, Revell Farm, Perkasie R. 2, killed near this Montgomery County community Saturday night when his car hit a tree.

Ebensburg—Frank L. Pompa, 40, Barnesboro, was killed Saturday at Bethlehem Mines Corp., mine when he apparently was dragged against a high-speed conveyor belt.

Johnstown—Daniel Lavelly, 15, Johnstown, killed by a car Saturday night while riding his bicycle.

Named To Education Staff At Penn State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Dr. Paul W. Bixby, a professor of education, has been named associate dean of the Pennsylvania State University's College of Education.

The university announced Sunday Bixby will fill the post vacated by Dr. Abram W. Vandermeer, now dean of the education college.

For the past year, Bixby has been director of the Peace Corps Philippine Islands training program at the University. He joined the Penn State faculty in 1947.

Name Officers For Odd Fellows Lodge

HARRISBURG (AP)—Carl V. Reedy of Lititz, Lancaster County, has been named new grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, Order of Odd Fellows.

Reedy, a former deputy grand master, was elected by a mail vote tabulated here Saturday. He succeeds John H. Matthews, Pottsville, Mercer County.

Reedy and other new officers are slated to be installed June 19 during the Odd Fellows' convention in Pittsburgh. Other new officers elected:

Samuel J. Patterson, Ambler, deputy grand master; Lewis M. Atkinson, Malvern, treasurer; Jerome C. Bloomer, Pittsburgh, warden; Howard A. Dreibels, Harrisburg, secretary; Kenneth M. Daugherty, Finleyville, representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Genius isn't all thumbs. The chances are that if you are smart you are also handy with your hands. Contrary to popular opinion, science has found that manual dexterity and intelligence tend to go together.

Slow drivers aren't necessarily safe drivers. Half of all traffic accidents are caused by cars going less than 40 miles an hour. Here's another oddity: Half of all accidents happen within 25 miles of the driver's garage.

HAMLET OR MACBETH

Health fact: About 25,000 Americans undergo operations each day. What is your favorite Shakespearean drama? Most critics rate "Hamlet" as the greatest play ever written. But Abraham Lincoln preferred "Macbeth."

Today's jet plane may be tomorrow's horse and buggy. By 1970, experts say, you'll fly through the air with the greatest of ease in vehicles traveling 2,000 miles an hour—better than three times the speed of sound.

Did you know that when you are born your brain is the biggest organ in your body, but after you grow up your liver is larger? So if you want to live a long time, let your brain alone and take good care of your liver.

NO ESKIMO COLDS

There seems to be no way to keep Americans down on the farm. In 1900 two-thirds of our population lived in rural areas. Now 65 per cent dwell in cities and suburbs.

A thought for today: The U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing turns out 1.7 billion pieces of currency a year. Are you getting your share?

Healthy isolation: Eskimos, who live remote from visitors almost never catch the common cold.

Helpful hint: If you have any big thinking to do, now is the time to concentrate on it. Tests indicate that most people's minds function best in the spring and autumn.

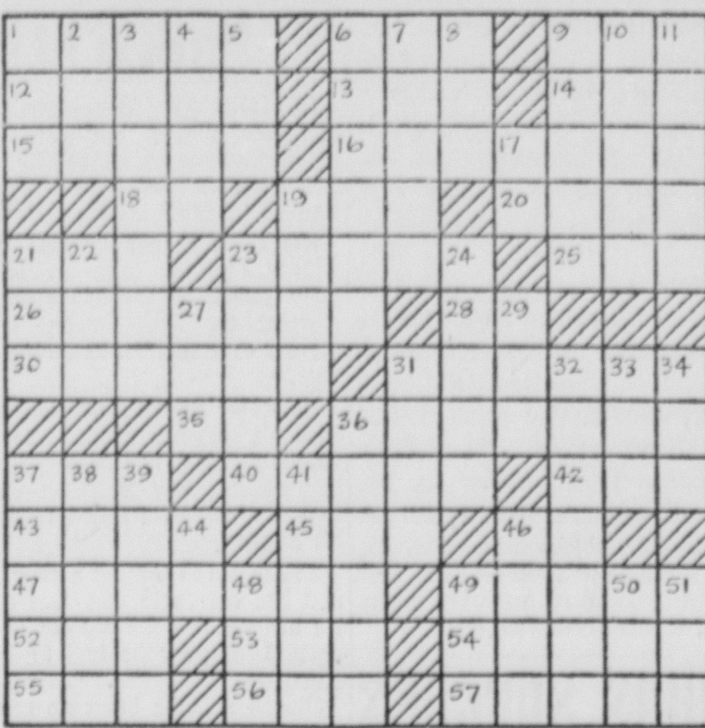

WHY DIAMONDS COME HIGH

Wise-crack of the week: Charles A. Richmond, the recording executive, claims that if brevity is the soul of wit a girl's bikini is the funniest sight in the world.

Gem lore: Here's one reason diamonds are so expensive: To find a single stone from which a one-carat gem can be cut, more than 250 tons of ore must be blasted, dug, crushed and sorted.

A thoughtful man can always find a way to make a living. That's why some Mexicans now raise scorpions. Their government pays a bonus for dead ones, so the natives raise 'em, kill 'em—and ways good.

Earthquakes Recorded Sunday

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A strong earthquake 5,200 miles to the west or northwest registered on the California Institute of Technology seismograph Sunday night.

Dr. Charles Richter of the seismology laboratory said he could not determine a definite area for the quake, which he said had a magnitude of 6.8 — "potentially dangerous."

History lesson: Can you name three U.S. presidents who died on the Fourth of July? They were John Adams and Thomas Jefferson (1826) and James Monroe (1831).

Worth remembering: Where there is no hope there is no happiness.

If you sometimes get tired of waiting, pity the poor fireman. Most of his job is a long pause. He spends less than two per cent of his work time answering alarms or actually fighting fires.

Windy: The longest popular novel ever published was "Clarissa Harlowe," turned out by Samuel Richardson in 1749. It ran to 984,870 words, about 200,000 more than the Bible.

It was Charles Maurice de Talleyrand who observed, "Don't trust first impulses—they are always good."

CASH CLOUTS SIXTH HOMER

BOSTON (AP)—Norm Cash is off to a much faster start in the annual home run derby than all-time record holders Babe Ruth and Roger Maris.

He couldn't care less. The big Detroit first baseman is worried about his batting average.

The stocky, left-handed hitting Texan belted a pair of homers in an 8-6 victory over Boston Sunday, giving him six in eight games, including three in the last two.

By comparison, Babe Ruth hit his sixth homer in game No. 16 for the 1927 New York Yankees en route to his record 60 for a 154-game season. Maris, who tagged 61 round trippers in last year's 162-game slate, hit his first in his 10th appearance and his sixth in the 30th contest.

"Sure, I'm off to a fast start as far as home runs are concerned," said Cash, who won the 1961 American League batting title with a .361 mark and was sixth in homers (41). "Last year I didn't hit my third homer until about my 15th game. But I was getting more base hits at the start of the season."

Cash has a .276 batting mark with 29 at bats and eight hits—six home runs, a double and one single.

Personal Income In State Drops

WASHINGTON (AP)—The personal income of Pennsylvanians dropped last year, while the national per capita figure rose two per cent over the year before, the Commerce Department reports.

The department announced over the weekend that per capita personal income in Pennsylvania decreased from $2,666 to $2,280. The state figure was still higher than the national figure—$2,265.

In Delaware the per-season income rose from $3,013 to $3,026, still the highest of any state.

The Rocky Mountain states showed the largest gain over the previous year—four per cent. The Far Western states had the highest personal income $2,689.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Steve Allen Lewis, 3-year-old son of rock 'n' roll singer Jerry Lee Lewis, drowned in a swimming pool at the Lewis' suburban home Sunday.

Steve was the son of Lewis and 17-year-old Myra Gail Brown Lewis, the singer's third wife. Their marriage in 1958 caused an uproar that cancelled a tour in England for Lewis. Myra, Lewis' cousin, was 13 at the time.

Elmo K. Lewis of Ferriday, La., Lewis' father, said the child was in the kitchen with his mother when he wandered away. After a search of the house, Mrs. Lewis called a neighbor to search the pool.

SAY MEDICINE CABINET NOW THING OF PAST

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The medicine cabinet has become the hope chest of civilization.

A man is no longer judged so much by the company he keeps as by the number of pills, potions and lotions he stocks in his bathroom storehouse of health and beauty.

There was a time when a bathroom was a place where you went to take a bath. Today a bathroom is a combination clinic, drugstore and beauty parlor.

"The desire to take medicine," said wise Sir William Osler, "is perhaps the greatest feature which distinguishes man from animals."

Medicine used to be merely the candy of the middle-aged and the elderly. Now it has become a compulsive passion with us, and we all seem to be in the grip of a kind of pharmaceutical voodooism.

We no longer take medicine merely to cure what ails us. We can't wait that long anymore. We swallow all kinds of medicines now to forestall all kinds of ills, real or imaginary, that might even possibly afflict us. We coat our insides with medicine as if it were an interior protective blanket.

Many a man now alive can remember when the family medicine cabinet contained only some iodine and castor oil for the children, some aspirin for Dad and Mom, and some baking soda and laxative tablets for the old folks.

One wonders how they all managed to live so long and feel so well amid such bleak medical medical pauperhood. Not even a single wonder drug in the entire house!

2 BATHROOMS NEEDED

Today the two-bathroom home is a necessity not because the average family requires two bathrooms—but because it simply has to have two medicine cabinets in which to stack all the boxes and bottles containing new miracle ointments and ointments for everything from athlete's foot to eczema.

As a matter of fact, practically every part of the modern home has become something of a disaster area. You'll find medicines from the kitchen refrigerator to the drawer in the bedside table. Sometimes they even get abscondedly swept under the living room rug.

But the real miracle of our times is this—why, with all this medicine taking, doesn't every man get more fun out of life than his grandfather did?

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

COMPLEXION PERFECTION.

Many teens quest for a lovelier complexion. But few will face the facts of how it is acquired. A girl somehow gets the notion that if only she could get her hands on a magic cream and make-up she'd have the complexion of her favorite movie star.

Well, there can be no doubt about the value of present-day cosmetics. They have made giant strides in promoting the health and beauty of the skin. But they are the aids to an ideal complexion. They are not the basis of it.

So why not be convinced of the facts, Miss Teen? The fact that three daily, gentle but thorough soap-and-water cleansings are essential to clear, silky skin. That a daily stint of outdoor exercise is what brings up a glow. That in the control of blemishes, two factors — more sleep and fewer sweets are vital.

Not very glamorous-sounding, those facts, but truly the stuff that skin glamor is made of. It is only after you have put the "works" to work for you that cosmetics can become your ally.

Mind, you choose them wisely. Ask if a product is designed for your skin, its age and its problems. A cosmetic scientist has this to say on the subject: "Using a product made for mature skins would be for a teen like shooting a kitten with an elephant gun."

Retell Joyous Easter Story

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The joyous story of Easter was retold in churches and at outdoor services Sunday as Christians around the world celebrated their most festive of the year.

Religious pageantry celebrated the resurrection of Christ and marked the end of the penitential period of Lent. Displays of fashions welcomed the spring in many places.

Generally fair weather prevailed.

Makeshift churches in outposts were used by members of the armed forces and civilians on overseas duty.

Pope John XXIII celebrated an Easter Mass in the Basilica in Rome which was attended by about 30,000 persons.

The pontiff later stood on the balcony of St. Peter's and addressed more than 250,000 in the courtyard. He warned against godlessness that he said could break the peace. The peace of the world is threatened, he said, and "all people tremble at the thought that it could be lost."

Pilgrims from distant lands celebrated the day in the holy city of Jerusalem with hymns of joy.

Van Johnson Is Success On Stage

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Van Johnson opened in "The Music Man" at the Los Angeles Coconut Grove and the movie colony turned out in force to welcome him.

Johnson, who just finished a year's run of the show in London, is scheduled for a five-week stand at the Ambassador Hotel night-spot.

"The Music Man" is the first current hit musical to play at the Coconut Grove in the club's 41-year history.

Let's Look At The Record

GIANT IN JOURNALISM
Pen Portraits Of Great And Near Great
Fill Memoirs of MM UP's Hugh Bailie

By JIM DAN HILL, Pch. D.
President, Wisconsin State College
Superior

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR has always been openly proud of his Scottish heritage. In Tokyo he had been interviewed by Hugh Bailie, then president of United Press, Getting Mac to come through with an earlier "exclusive" had been a story within itself.

But now MacArthur was going all the way. He was creaming it off with a good meal and an autographed portrait to Hugh Bailie. He wrote "To Hugh," and then glanced inquiringly toward the war correspondent for the correct spelling of "Bailie."

Instead of taking Mac off the hook, the reporter cleverly rebuked him in an artificially broad, Scot dialect:

"Dinna ye kea t'spell the name, Bailie, Douglas MacArrrthur?"

The general looked at his guest for a long, silent moment. He wrote the name. He spelled it correctly!

The incident reveals one of the many brilliant facets of an informal, egalitarian but driving personality that made Hugh Bailie a giant in journalism.

TWO NOTORIOUSLY unscrupulous trial lawyers unwittingly started Bailie on the trail of big names as long ago as 1911. Young Hugh had just passed his twenty-first birthday. He was already a top hand in the news room of the old Scripps-Howard owned, intensely liberal Los Angeles Record. The rival "Times" was reactionary.

Then came the famous court trials arising from the dynamite bombing of the "Times" in a labor war. Twenty-one men in the night shift were killed immediately.

Thousands of dollars from distant unions and sympathizers poured in to defend the accused McNamara brothers, Earl Rogers, though already known as The Great Mouthpiece, was hardly considered up to the job. Clarence (Great Defender) Darrow was imported from Chicago.

Then Darrow's agent was caught trying to bribe two jury panel members. Two days later Darrow made a deal with the District Attorney. The McNamaras would plead guilty. One was given life; the other 15 years.

THE SPOTLIGHT then shifted to Darrow's two trials. They lasted months. For bribery of one juror, he was acquitted, thanks to the court room shenanigans of the versatile and incredible Earl Rogers. But Darrow often cross-examined witnesses in his own defense.

In the second trial, the two legal prima donnas parted company. A hung jury resulted, with an eight-to-four for guilty.

Young Bailie's paper was pro-labor, pro-McNamaras and pro-Darrow throughout. The news releases he ground out, which his paper put on United Press wires, created nationwide sentiment for them.

Prosecution would not speak to Bailie, Darrow, Rogers and all McNamara supporters talked to him freely. Bailie wrote into his memoirs ("High Tension," Harpers, $4.50) that he believed Darrow was guilty. But his editor was so sure of the innocence and justice of their cause that he collapsed at his desk when the McNamaras cheated the chair by copping a plea.

THE WHOLE SHOW was judicial mockery. Almost everyone lost except the circulation managers of Los Angeles newspapers, and young Bailie. The East had noted his crisp, biting, accurate coverage with frequent "firsts." United Press hired him.

Through a series of rapid promotions, by 1919 he was running the U. P. Washington Bureau. Thus, President Wilson became first of a long line of world figures from Darrow to DeGaulle who banded words with Hugh Bailie.

WOODROW WILSON to Bailie, while on the presidential train: "I'm glad to see you writing it (report on the last speech) after, not before."

Bailie on Ribbentrop in 1935: "... looking down his nose at everybody — a pompous fellow ... ramrod stiff, arms folded, chin high." On Goebbels: "... he hobbled around his desk ... greeted us with a big smile." "Hitler was a master of the 'sliding eye.' He could glide his glance from face to face without focusing on anyone, and without letting anyone catch his eye."

In Rome, during invasion of Abyssinia: "I crossed the acre of bare floor and drew up in front of Mussolini's desk. He did not look up ... just let me stand there. I was supposed to become more and more uneasy. I took the opportunity to look him over. He was bald ... He needed a shave." But later in the interview, Bailie thought Il Duce had "magnetism, even in his disarray."

BAILIE never penetrated Churchill's outer shell. This was because the Old Master kept busy bawling out Bailie, who had made a small but quickly corrected error in a Stalin interview. Churchill would not be pacified.

STUDENTS ARE FOUND SAFE IN LOOKOUT CAVE

By BILL RAWLINS

TRENTON, Ga. (AP)—A three-day ordeal without food and water ended happily for three collegiate explorers who carved a narrow perch between themselves and eternity inside a muddy cave.

The three—two Eagle Explorer Scouts and a novice—were plucked safe, sound and soggy from a mud bank in the Lookout Mountain cave late Monday—the end of an all-out search begun 36 hours earlier. Fraternity brothers found them in a spot experts had overlooked.

"They're safe!" shrieked their parents when word that the lads were found reached the cave's mouth. More than 150 rescue workers who had toiled in the search bowed their heads in prayer as the famished boys gulped their first hot meal since Friday night.

WERE EXPERIENCED

The three are James Mason, 21; Bill Bartee, 20, both of Atlanta, and Martin Huddleston, 19, of Ormond Beach, Fla. They had told friends they planned to explore the cave over the Easter weekend. They were reported missing when they did not return home as planned Saturday midnight.

Mason and Bartee, who grew up together, are experienced cave explorers. It was Huddleston's first trip underground. "I guess it will be my last," he said with a grin.

Mason and Huddleston are students at Emory University in Atlanta. Bartee attends Presbyterian College in Clinton, S.C. "We went into the cave about 9 p.m. Friday," said Mason. He said they secured a rope at the top of the mud bank to explore two deep holes about a mile inside the cave—which he and Bartee had inspected many times before.

"We knew there was water down there, but we didn't know how much," he said. "I went down first and hit water about chest deep. The others came on down and found the water soon was over their heads."

DIG A CLIFF "We swam about 40 feet and it was getting cold and we started cramping pretty good and we swam on back. We decided it was about time to leave and we started to climb up this sheer cliff by holding onto the rope. But by that time it was pretty slimy. The

The book is three years off the press. I missed it on pre-publication lists. A friend called it to my attention. A belated review is perhaps better than none, but the always-scoop-hungry Bailie would not agree Good book news, however, is always welcome news.

WANTED BY THE FBI

Eugene Francis Newman

Newman is the alleged machine gun-carrying leader of a gang that attempted the robbery of an armored car carrying $498,500 in American and Canadian currency in Buffalo, New York, on August 3, 1955. He and his associates, wearing silk stocking masks, engaged in a running gun battle with the truck's guards and Buffalo Police, and a machine gun bullet, allegedly fired by Newman, seriously wounded a guard. Two bandits were quickly apprehended but Newman remains at large.

A complaint, filed before a U.S. Commissioner at Buffalo, New York, on August 5, 1955, charges Newman with fleeing the State of New York to avoid prosecution for robbery.

Heavily armed, with a violent temper, Newman has previously been convicted for theft of Government property, interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle, petty larceny, and burglary.

He is a white American, reportedly born on October 3, 1928, at Brooklyn, New York, who is 5'8" tall, weighs 170 to 180 pounds, has blond hair, blue eyes, a medium build, and medium complexion.

He has scars near his right eye, on the back of his right hand and on the center of his left cheek. A birthmark appears on his upper left arm and a mole on his left index finger. Tattoos include the name "Danny" and a heart on the outside of his right forearm, and the number "13" within a dotted circle on the back of his left hand. He has worked as a bricklayer, clerk, construction worker, counterman, and laborer.

Considered extremely dangerous. Please immediately notify the nearest FBI Office of any information concerning his whereabouts. #P.O. 632466-18

Land Safely When Chute Opens Half

GOODWOOD, England (AP)—Tony Miller hurtled 5,000 feet to earth Monday with a parachute that only partly opened. He escaped with a dislocated shoulder. His rigging lines crossed after a delayed-opening drop in the national sky diving championships. He hit the ground making about 30 feet a second, twice the normal landing speed.

"The ground was about twice as hard as usual too," said Miller, 24.

Grace Kelly Will Delay Film Return

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Grace Kelly's return to the screen will be delayed until next year, says producer Alfred Hitchcock.

Miss Kelly, who retired from films to marry Prince Rainier of Monaco, was to have appeared in Hitchcock's production of "Marnie" in Hollywood starting Aug. 1. Hitchcock, now filming "The Birds," said Monday there would not be enough time after completion of that picture to allow

BALLOT ISSUE BEFORE HIGH STATE COURT

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Six justices of Pennsylvania's Supreme Court are considering the question of whether county commissioners under the Election Code can direct that paper ballots be used instead of voting machines in a primary election.

Chief Justice John C. Bell hints there might be a decision soon.

The justices acted on an appeal from a group of Westmoreland County voters who claim the commissioners abused their discretion and violated state law in voiding use of machines for the May 15 primary.

VOTERS APPEALED

Voters in New Kensington, Lower Merion and Arnold, where the electorate had adopted use of machines, filed the appeal.

The three county commissioners last Feb. 23 unanimously approved a resolution providing use of paper ballots in all the 285 districts to eliminate confusion resulting from write-in candidates. Only 80 districts have been using machines.

Judge John M. O'Connell of Westmoreland County on April 19 refused to grant a temporary injunction that would have restrained the commissioners from using paper ballots.

LACK DISCRETION

During Monday's session, Justices Herbert B. Cohen and Benjamin Jones Jr., in questioning opposing attorneys, said they believed commissioners had no such discretion in voiding use of the machines.

"What would happen to the election code if county commissioners all over the state handed out such edicts?" asked Cohen. "It would destroy the legislative pronouncements on the use of voting machines."

Liz, Burton Make Real Love Scenes

ROME (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton returned to Rome today to make love scenes for the movie "Cleopatra" after an Easter weekend kissing and holding hands at seaside Porto Santo Stefano.

They did not return together, however, from the secluded vacation resort 60 miles north of Rome. After dinner together Monday night, a chauffeur drove Miss Taylor back to Rome. She sent the car back and Burton returned today.

Burton denied reports published abroad that he had sent his secretary to London to see his wife, Sybil, about a divorce.

"Absolutely untrue," Burton told a newsman.

THE SIGN THAT SAYS:
IT'S MODERN!

Discover whole-home, Gas air conditioning—the modern way to live. And you'll be pleasantly surprised to learn that Gas air conditioning costs less than you might have thought. You'll wonder why you've been without it.

Think of cozy-cool sleep through the hottest nights ... carefree cooking in a comfortably cooled kitchen ... a mood of living that stays bright and happy because the whole family feels better in the house. That's what happens with whole-home Gas air conditioning.

The installation costs of a central Gas heating-cooling system in a new home can be financed with the mortgage, for a very modest increase in payments. Planning to remodel? Consider having a Gas add-on air conditioning unit installed in your present Gas forced air heating system. You can probably use the existing heating ductwork for cooling to get added installation economies.

If you are planning to buy or build a new home, or to remodel your present home, find out about Gas air conditioning. You'll want it!

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

THE YEARS BEFORE AND AFTER THE WHITE HOUSE

The account of President James Buchanan, his niece and hostess, Harriet Lane Johnston, and their family connections in what is now Adams County, Pa., is continued at this time.

When President Buchanan and Harriet Lane left Wheatland, near Lancaster, Pa., for the inauguration of Buchanan as President, they were sent off by an enthusiastic populace — old friends and neighbors. According to a contemporary account published at that time: —

"The morning of March 2, 1860, dawned cold and cheerless at Lancaster, Pa. It had been snowing most of the night, and now a bitter wind was blowing. At six, the church bells began to peal, for it was to be a great day for the town and the people must be up betimes. James Buchanan was at length to bid farewell to his fellow citizens, and they wanted to do him honor. By seven the rosetted and bescarfed Marshals began to appear on horseback and directed the Lancaster Fencibles and the motley citizenry to form a procession. Out on W. King St. they marched at quickstep to overcome the cold, proceeded by the band in a wagon. Music seemed to be a good livener; but it soon ceased, for it was too cold to play and a number of bandmen preferred walking to freezing. At the head of W. King St. the populace had expected to meet the President-elect, but he was not there, and rather than stand in the icy breeze they set forth on the Mareta Pike to Wheatland. There they discovered that Buchanan was still engaged in last minute details. He (Buchanan) hastily greeted the throng and returned to the business of departure, or was it to finish his breakfast?

LEAVE FOR CAPITAL

"At last the family carriage came around from the barn; the crowd pressed close, almost to close for the coachman's comfort. As the house door opened for the last time Buchanan, his niece, the charming Harriet Lane; his nephew, efficient and self-sufficient, J. Buchanan Henry, and his housekeeper, Miss Hetty Parker, entered the carriage. They were off, to the relief of the shivering crowd, and before long they had passed through the town to the railroad station, where the special train, provided by Buchanan's friend, Joseph Baker, superintendent of the State Road, waited. A private car had been especially prepared, decorated with stained-glass windows — picturing Wheatland and Lancaster scenes. A great cheer, much handshaking and at last the train was off.

"At Baltimore, Md., another reception was in readiness, but his dysentery made Buchanan decline the elaborate and lengthy banquet. He pushed on to Washington on the three o'clock train and arrived before he was expected. As the party drove from the depot, the horses became frightened and began to bolt. Only the presence of mind on the part of a young man on the box with the coachman, who jumped on the back of one of the horses and pulled him up, prevented what might have been a fatal accident. For two days and nights James Buchanan and his party stayed at Guy's National Hotel.

DAY WAS BALMY

"Inauguration Day was balmy, the crowd was immense. But James Buchanan was unhappy; his cabinet was unsettled and the 'National Hotel disease' gripped him. Dr. Foltz must stand near, to hand astringents, Chief Justice Taney administered the oath of office."

The history of James Buchanan's four years as president are too well known to bear repeating — it is sufficient to say that at the end of his term of office he returned to Wheatland a disillusioned man — almost heart-broken over the attitude the people were taking — not only over the question of slavery but also that of secession. He (Buchanan) felt that civil war was not the answer and today — more than a hundred years later — with bitterness and unhealed wounds on the part of the North and South, historians acknowledge his attitude to be the correct one — in every way.

When Buchanan returned to Wheatland his reception was a heartwarming one. The arrival of his train brought a salute of 34 guns and bells all over the town of Lancaster were set ringing. The procession to Centre Square was so hampered by the welcoming crowd that the City Guards had to precede the ex-President's carriage. Here Buchanan made a short speech (on the Centre Square). Then he (Buchanan) returned to his carriage and went on to Wheatland. As soon as the procession reached the old estate, the Baltimore City Guards were drawn up in front of the house and as James Buchanan stepped from his barouche, the band struck up "Home Sweet Home."

Harriet Lane burst into tears and Buchanan then mounted the portico and, in his grave and stately manner, thanked his escort. The crowd warmly applauded and the ex-President and Miss Lane, who stood beside him, were deeply moved. It was, to quote the "Lancaster Intelligencer" — "a solemn and impressive scene, which those who witnessed it were never to forget."

HAPPY IN RETIREMENT
Both James Buchanan and Harriet Lane were happy in their retirement at Wheatland. The former, of course, was bitterly grieved over the state of his beloved country and when the Civil War actually burst into flame he (Buchanan) felt that he had lived and worked for a lifetime — and — could show no results for his labor. The abuse and criticism hurled at Buchanan himself were completely ignored — his country's welfare, as always, came first. After the close of the "War Between the States" a most peaceful period began for the ex-President. He enjoyed his life as a private citizen and the people of Lancaster and vicinity both revered and respected their most outstanding resident. Harriet Lane spent much of her time with her uncle and in January, 1866, the most memorable event that the old house was ever to witness took place. In many respects the marriage of Harriet Lane to Henry Elliott Johnston, at Wheatland, in January 1866, climaxed the long career of James Buchanan.

For the aged ex-President the occasions which he most enjoyed were not the ones at which hundreds of people milled about showering him with good wishes — but the quiet family affairs — the milestones in the history of his own clan.

It was a quiet day in January, 1866, when but a few of the closest of friends and relatives were present to celebrate the wedding of lovely Harriet Lane to the young Baltimore banker — Henry Elliott Johnston.

The Buchanan - Lane - Johnston notes will be continued next week.

BELL WILL CUT RATE 5 CENTS, PUC REVEALS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Starting June 1, the Bell Telephone Co., of Pennsylvania will cut the monthly rates of its 2,337,500 residential customers by five cents, climaxing a year-long dispute with the Public Utility Commission.

The cut was announced by the PUC Monday. It stems from a commission directive last week, ordering Bell to reduce its annual profits by $1.5 million a year.

Only home phone rates will be affected. Business telephone charges will remain unchanged.

EARLIER REFUSAL
The PUC launched an investigation into Bell's rate system over a year ago on grounds that the utility's profits seemed to high. Several times, Bell asked the PUC to abandon the probe, but was turned down.

After 42 public hearings, more than 6,000 pages of testimony and hours of argument, the commission called on Bell to reduce its rates voluntarily. The firm refused.

The PUC then ordered the cut last week. Commission aides said the nickel reduction will slash Bell's income by $1,402,500. Bell also has agreed to revise 30 calling areas around the state, enlarging the base rate areas, establishing zone and locality rate areas and upgrading service.

OTHER CHANGES
The base rate area is served by the central office of an exchange. Zone and locality rate areas are those covering near an exchange, but with slightly higher charges.

Bell said these changes will affect 8,391 customers, reducing the rates by an additional $98,194 a year.

In addition, the utility said, 641 phone users will be changed from multi-party to four-party line service without any change in rates, other than the nickel reduction in basic monthly charges.

However, 84 customers in six of the 30 exchanges will be required to take two-party line service because four-party lines are not available in their area, Bell said. This will increase the bills of the 84 customers by $652 a year.

First on the list is a meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, for which he is preparing at the ocean front estate where he and his family are staying. Macmillan will arrive in Washington Friday.

Kennedy has had daily briefings on domestic and world events during his sojourn in the Florida sunshine and has read documents sent from Washington. Even aboard the Honey Fitz, there's a telephone contact with the duties of his office. Kennedy also has spent time each day visiting with his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is convalescing from a stroke.

Kennedy has six out-of-town engagements scheduled for May and June.

PRESIDENT TO GO ON YACHT CRUISE TODAY

By MARTHA COLE

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy sails into the sixth full day of his Easter vacation today and follows the same tack—pawerwork and a cruise on his yacht.

The President, suntanned and smiling, appeared relaxed and enjoying the respite from official Washington, during his official Monday on the Honey Fitz.

He also is getting ready for a heavy schedule after his return to Washington Friday.

NOTICE

The Board of Directors of Hamilton Township School District, Adams County, Pennsylvania, herewith gives notice of its intention to adopt a resolution on the 21st day of May, 1962, to be effective July 2, 1962, imposing, levying, assessing and collecting a tax for general revenue purposes in Hamilton Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania, upon the occupations of each resident or inhabitant of the said township over the age of twenty-one (21) years at the rate of ten per cent (10%) or ten cents (10c) on the dollar of the assessed valuation of the occupation of each such resident or inhabitant; providing for the payment of said tax; providing for the method and manner of collecting the tax imposed, assessed and levied by this resolution and imposing penalties and making the husband responsible for his wife's taxes.

The reason which in the judgment of the Board of Directors of Hamilton Township School District necessitates the imposing of the tax is the need to secure additional funds for current expenses and for proposed new construction.

The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from the tax is approximately Twelve Thousand Four Hundred ($12,400.00) Dollars annually.

This resolution is to be enacted pursuant to the provisions of the Act of June 25, 1947, P. L. 1145 as amended and supplemented.

SEATTLE FAIR GIRLIE SHOWS LIKED BY ALL

By BOB THOMAS

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—What is there about world's fairs that seems to call for exposure of the female form?

It beats me. All I know is that the undraped babe is as much a part of a world's fair as science exhibits and cotton candy.

What do folks remember about the Chicago Fair of 1893 Little Egypt and her hoochy-koochy. Who was the star of the 1933 Century of Progress Sally Rand and her fans.

The Century 21 Exposition was not going to be caught napping. Operators on the glittering show street have come up with new and ingenious ways to present girls in the near-altogether. The customers are lining up for tickets.

RESTAURANT-TYPE

Nudity on show street ranges from the ridiculous to the faintly sublime. Best of the shows is Barry Ashton's revue at Gracie Hansen's Paradise. This is a 600-seat theater-restaurant fronted by a Sophie Tucker-type hostess whose previous experience was producing PTA shows.

Ashton presents his usual blend of beautiful babes, stunning costumes and well-dressed dances. A special nod toward the fair's outer-space theme is offered by the "Planet Eve" ballet. Two astronauts land on the planet Venus to be greeted by inhabitants clothed merely in rhinestone G-strings. Stirring stuff.

ANOTHER VARIATION

A variation of the familiar theme is offered by "Backstage, USA." This is a gimmick devised

Asks President To Change Mind

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Association has urged President Kennedy to reconsider his proposal to give the right of eminent domain to coal pipelines.

G. E. Leighty wrote the President Saturday that coal pipelines "would cut heavily into railroad employment and would not increase employment among coal miners." He said it might possibly reduce employment among miners "since the business would be handled only by the highly mechanized mines."

The Senate Commerce Committee has now before it a bill to give coal pipelines the right to condemn land for rights-of-way. At a recent hearing a coal company spokesman said the lack of this right is the chief obstacle to the development of pipelines from the West Virginia mines.

The United Mine Workers of America has endorsed President Kennedy's proposal.

by longtime Hollywood dance producer Leroy Prinz, in which show girls are presented both on stage and off in their native habitat. The off-stage area provides reason for the cuties to be seen changing costumes, taking showers and doing other things that might provide interest for backstage peepers.

Then there are the "Girls of the Galaxy," which reduces the sideshow attraction to the lowest denominator. These are a series of lame tableaux in which a couple of seminudes stand in total embarrassment while a more energetic dancer does a routine to an electric organ accompaniment.

All these have met the approval of the special theater supervisory board, appointed by the mayor of Seattle to safeguard morals.

DEATHS

NEW YORK (AP)—Raissa T. Adler, 88, widow of Dr. Alfred Adler, who first evolved the theory of "inferiority complex," died Saturday. She married Adler in 1898 when he was an unknown Viennese physician.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Edward L. Reed, 66, board chairman of Jacob Reed's Sons clothing firm and a former foreign service officer, was found dead Saturday, his wrists slashed by a razor.

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP)—Clyde L. Willis, 67, retired general manager of The Associated Grocers, a large independent chain, died Saturday, apparently of a heart attack.

CHICAGO (AP)—R. Kenneth Newhall, 61, head of international banking at the First National Bank of Chicago, died Saturday of cancer. He was born in Wheaton, Ill.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Franklin Joseph Fox, 49, public relations executive and former newspaperman, died Saturday of a heart attack.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rear Adm. Wallace R. Dowd (Ret.), 66, died Sunday. Dowd was born in Fort Smith, Ark.

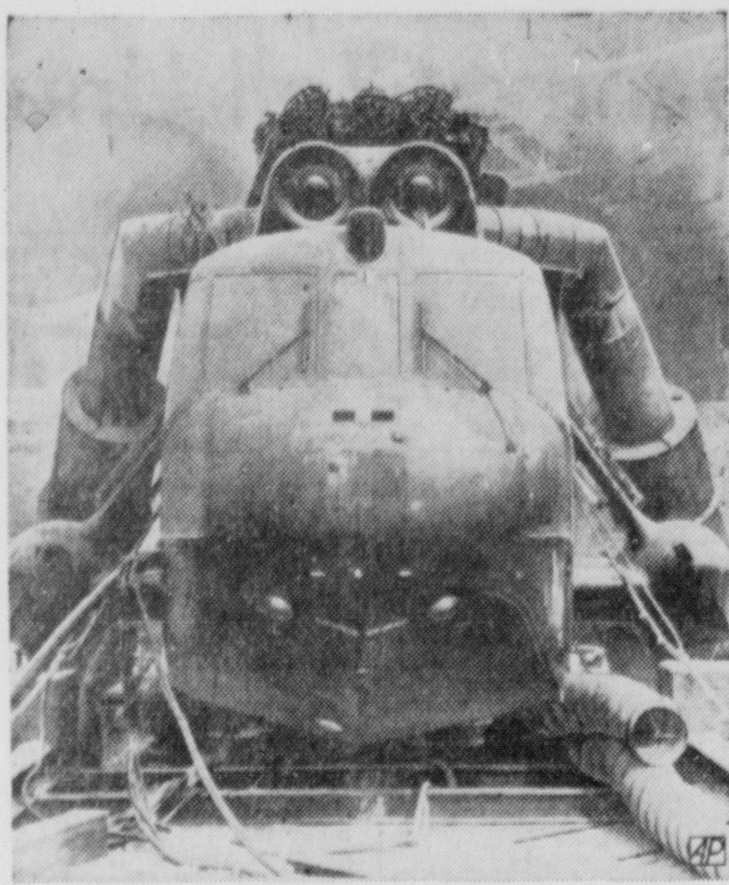

DETROIT (AP)—Robert H. Clancy, 30, a former Michigan representative in Congress who fought against prohibition in the 1920s, died Monday of cancer. He was elected to Congress as a Democrat in 1922 but bolted the party in 1924 when the Democratic National Convention refused to denounce the Ku Klux Klan. He was elected as a Republican for three terms starting in 1926.

NEW YORK (AP)—Capt. Phineas B. Blanchard, 83, board chairman of the National Association of Stevedores, died Monday. Blanchard, who was born on a ship skippered by his father, was president of the Maritime Association of the state of New York from 1939 to 1941.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kate Scott Brooks, 99, former society editor of the Washington Post, died Monday. Mrs. Brooks, who covered news of Washington society from the 1890s until she retired in the 1930s, was born in Shelbyville, Ind.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Charles Terry Crossfield, 55, board chairman of the Commercial Credit Corp., died Sunday. Crossfield, who had been with the firm since 1929, was born in Owensboro, Ky.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Helen M. Bennett, 89, who organized the Women's World's Fair in Chicago in the late 1920s and was

BREAKTHROUGH FASCINATING, HANDLED WELL

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In a remarkable hour program, NBC demonstrated Monday night the life-saving miracles performed by surgeons all over the country, mending defective and diseased hearts and circulatory systems.

It was called "Breakthrough," because each of the four delicate operations, shown close-up and in detail, has been developed in recent years—one shown was not possible as recently as two years ago.

First surgery was performed on a Washington woman with a diseased heart valve. The surgeon in charge of the Social Science Building at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933, died Sunday. Miss Bennett, who was born in Washington, Iowa, was the sister of the Rt. Rev. Granville Gaylord Bennett, retired bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Rhode Island.

PUBLIC SALE OF CHOICE BUILDING LOTS

Wednesday, May 9, 1962, at 7:00 P.M., D.S.T.

The undersigned will offer at public sale on the premises in the Borough of Bendersville along the north side of Park St. the following:

Triangular plot of ground with 525 feet frontage on the Bendersville-Aspers highway at the edge of Bendersville. The depth of this plot runs from 125 feet to 233 feet. It is improved with a 3-story cement block building which had been used commercially. This tract is ideal for a small development. It will be offered two ways, all in one piece and in lots of approximately 100-foot frontage. This tract is beautifully located. Borough water and natural gas available to all these lots.

Terms: 20% down — balance in 30 days or contact owner for other arrangements.

SAFE DRIVING TIPS KEEP PENNSYLVANIA "THE SAFE DRIVER STATE"

By Observing the Signs of Life

Traffic control signals, stop signs and warning signs serve the dual purpose of regulating traffic and maintaining safety. They are "signs of life" that help prevent accidents and deaths.

Every warning sign and traffic signal is a silent sentinel, guarding your safety. Always observe them, remembering that there might be another vehicle, or pedestrian, just out of your sight.

If every motorist had observed this safety rule during 1961, 13,836 accidents and 38 fatal accidents might well have been prevented!

GOVERNOR IN INDIA

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania left Monday for New Delhi on another leg of his round-the-world trip, following a good-will visit to Japan.

Sunday Lawrence took an Easter Sunday tour of Bangkok's famed temple of the Emerald Buddha and nearby Buddhist shrines. From India, the governor will journey to the Middle East and Europe.

A pound of loose tea should make 200 cups.
